

Division: Institute of Linguistics and International Communications

Academic programme: 41.03.04 Political Science, Political Management

Mode of study: full-time

Programme length: 4 years

Programme level: Bachelor's degree

Language of instruction: Russian

Programme description: The programme prepares students for a career in political analysis and consulting; management of political processes at the municipal, regional and national level; or public relations and governmental organizations (PR and GR).

Programme graduates can:

- manage electoral and political campaigns
- design organizational structures in politics
- carry out political management in governmental bodies, apparatuses of political parties and socio-political associations, international organizations, business structures, as well as consulting and expert organizations
- analyse the political situation and predict the future development of political processes
- develop strategic and tactical recommendations for politicians

Career prospects: politics, political management in governmental bodies

- Main programme-specific classes
- Introduction to Political Theory
- Comparative Political Science
- Political Processes in Modern Russia
- World Politics
- Political Analysis and Forecasting
- Qualitative Methods in Political Science
- Practicum on Project Activity
- Project Management in Political Science
- State and Municipal Management
- Political Management
- Relations with State and Non-state Organizations
- Corporate Management and Public Policy
- Election Systems and Technologies

Programme manager: Ekaterina G. Prilukova, Doctor of Sciences (Philosophy), Professor the Department of International Relations, Political Science and Regional Studies